

1.13 Endangered Species

Policy revised 2/96: 1.13.1 – 1.13.10   Reviewed and amended June 2008 listed for comment from branches and members 17 July 2008 adopted with changes 30 August 2008.

Introduction

- 1.13.1 This policy relates to the rehabilitation of rare, vulnerable and threatened species.
- 1.13.2 The preservation of rare, vulnerable and threatened (RVT) species is paramount to the attainment of WIRES conservation ideals.
- 1.13.3 WIRES, in the case of some species - infrequently has the opportunity to assist RVT species, but should make a special effort to rehabilitate such species and to co-operate with special projects, which might involve these animals.
- 1.13.4 For the purposes of this policy, "rare, vulnerable and threatened species" shall mean species listed in the Threatened Species Conservation Act 1995 as attached. Members should check the listing from time to time, and update their listing as required.
- 1.13.5 All individuals of RVT species will be afforded specialist care whilst in the possession of WIRES.
- 1.13.6 WIRES Branches will keep WIRES records up to date on the database which will create a register of experienced Foster Carers within the organisation, who have appropriate specialist expertise and facilities to undertake the rehabilitation of different classes or species of RVT animals.
- 1.13.7 RVT animals, which enter the WIRES network, will be immediately passed to the appropriate rehabilitator recorded in the registers for the species concerned.
- 1.13.8 WIRES will liaise and co-operate with the NSW National Parks and Wildlife Service on the rehabilitation and release, or retention in captivity of RVT animals.
- 1.13.9 A non-releasable, but otherwise healthy, RVT animal will not be euthanased without prior consultation with and approval of a responsible officer of the NSW National Parks and Wildlife Service.
- 1.13.10 The rehabilitator should advise the veterinarian attending such animals of this policy and that euthanasia is a last resort.
